Song Inspiration

Do It The Right Way is inspired by conversations I've had with other people and myself about moments in our lives when our dark side comes out you want to fight.

I don't usually fight with other people, just myself. However I do know some people who do like to fight with other people. I believe if you're respecting people, you're Doing It The Right Way. Because you don't always know what's going on in someone's life so the best way to handle those moments is to be respectful and considerate of peoples feelings and situation. However I do believe that if you need to defend yourself, do what you feel necessary.
